

TABLE TALK

Denver Unit #361 • American Contract Bridge League • Fall 2002

This and That

by Kristi Endelicato, President

Unit board elections

It's time again to vote for your representation to the Denver Unit board. The slate of candidates includes eight nominees, all anxious to serve and all of whom will do a fine job at continuing to bring you great bridge events.

We have one board member who is not seeking reelection, Lori Beard. Lori has been our Treasurer for two years, doing an excellent job with our books. She computerized our accounting records so that with a couple keystrokes we can know anything and everything about our accounts. Thanks Lori, you did a great job at watching our money.

You can see a complete financial accounting of the Unit's treasury on page 5 of this newsletter.

District 17 elections

The Denver Unit has two representatives to the District 17 board. Currently they are Pete Heber and Ginny Johnston. Pete's term expires at the end of 2002 and has chosen to not seek reelection.

Pete has done a wonderful job at representing us at the District level and we thank you Pete, for your years of dedicated service.

We had one nominee for this position, so running unopposed is Carolyn Newcomb. We are thrilled to have Carolyn as one of our District representatives. She and Ginny will provide excellent representation, listening to the Unit and carrying our message to the District. Carolyn served on the Unit board in the recent past, so it's good to have her back.

Regional 2003

Many of you may be aware that the Unit board submitted a proposal to the District to change our regional starting times. This proposal had the main events at 10:00am and 3:00pm, with an 8:00pm time slot for those events currently held at 8:45am.

The District tabled our proposed 2003 regional schedule until their October Board meeting, to be held at the Colorado Springs regional. In the meantime, the Denver Unit spent the summer months further researching the 10-3-8 subject. The survey in the Forum that some of you responded to was just one means of information gathering we implemented.

Without going into great detail, the Unit determined that the uncertainties of a 10-3-8 schedule warranted not assuming the risk at this time. The Unit has resubmitted a schedule to the District that is very similar to past Denver regionals with a few slight modifications.

The Denver regional has seen increased attendance from the prior year just five times since 1992. Two of those increases came in 2001 and 2002. We hope 2003 can boast another attendance increase, so mark your calendars - May 21-26, 2003, Renaissance Denver Hotel. Plan to play, and play often. We intend to make your experience enjoyable.

Bridge Week 2003

The ACBL has declared January 6-12, 2003 as Bridge Week in North America. It marks the 71st anniversary of the Culbertson-Lenz match, dubbed Bridge Battle of the Century. It was this match that helped make bridge a national pastime 71 years ago, and the goal of Bridge Week is to spread the word that bridge is still the best leisure-time activity in the world.

All clubs are invited to participate in this week-long celebration. Since our Winter sectional falls within this week, the Unit may even catch the Bridge Week bug.

CANDIDATES FOR ELECTION TO DENVER UNIT BOARD #361

MAXINE DIVINE

I've been a member of Unit 361 for 8 years. I served as Hospitality Chairperson at the May 2002 Regional and found the experience to be rewarding and fun, working with the other board members to accomplish our goal of making the tournaments (and competitive bridge in general) a more friendly and enjoyable game for us all. I have the interest, time and enthusiasm to make a contribution to this effort.

KRISTI ENDELICATO

As a board member for the past several years, it's great to have played a part in the recent successes of the Denver Unit. I think there is more we can accomplish and would like the opportunity to try.

BILL FITCH

Bill Fitch is a familiar face at all the bridge events in Denver—clubs, sectionals and regionals. He has served on the Board one full term and is anxious to continue to serve. Bill began to play bridge in 1958 and returned to competitive bridge in 1993. He is currently Hospitality chairman for the sectionals although his wife Nina really does the work.

ED HAGERMAN

I started playing bridge in college, played a little club bridge in Denver, then dropped out. I rejoined in 1997 and caught the bridge "bug." I enjoy the tournament environment and especially enjoy meeting new friends and opponents. Bridge should be "fun," and our Denver bridge community does a great job! I believe we have the greatest of all games which unfortunately is underappreciated by the general population. We need to work on growing and publicizing this great game called bridge.

MARIE JOHNSON

I've been a member of the ACBL since 1992. I would like to become a member of the Denver Unit board because I feel I can be an asset. Bridge to me means having a good time with a lot of nice people. I use bridge as my way to relax after a stressful week at work. I feel I can be beneficial to the game and the Unit by getting more involved in the leadership aspects.

DAVID OSMUNDSEN

The past few years have been very enjoyable. My fellow bridge players in the Denver area are friendly, interesting, competitive and have taught me many, and sometimes painful, lessons about bridge. The more I learn, the more there is to learn. I would like to participate in the leadership of the Unit to maintain the high quality of Denver sectionals and regionals, and increase membership.

MARY LOU PHIPPS

Mary Lou is a former legal secretary who enjoys the symphony, opera and gourmet cooking. She is an enthusiastic student of bridge who has benefitted from the efforts of many dedicated members of the Denver unit. Though semi-retired with no spare time on her hands, everything has a payback so the time is now. If elected, she will serve (and play). If not chosen, she will play anyway. She can hardly lose—so you choose.

GERRY SCHECHTER

I've enjoyed being on the Denver board the last 2½ years. There has been much change with new sites for the regional and sectionals, as well as higher levels of hospitality. If you've traveled the front range for tournaments, I think you would agree that the Denver tournaments are the best in the state, and maybe even beyond. I want to continue to bring a better playing experience to our membership.

Don Boyarsky and Jerry Ranney wish to thank Jan Benninghoven, Mary Fulton and Donna Yeargain for serving on the Unit 361 Nominating Committee. Their excellent service was key to obtaining the outstanding group of nominees running for election to the unit board.

ABSENTEE VOTING

(Please read carefully and follow instructions.)

Absentee voting shall be allowed for the following reasons only:

- 1) illness
- 2) absence from the Denver Election Tournament

Absentee ballots may be obtained by requesting same from the Secretary of the Board. The only absentee ballots which shall be accepted are those which are printed by the Board. Copies or facsimiles shall be discarded. Such ballots must be mailed or otherwise submitted to the Secretary of the Unit to reach him no later than the day before the election meeting. Absentee ballots shall be enclosed in a plain envelope and shall be accompanied by a letter showing the name of the member and ACBL number and stating the member is in good standing and one who wishes to avail himself of absentee voting privileges for one or the other of the two reasons allowed. Nowhere on the ballot or in the plain envelope which contains the ballot should the member be identified. Ballots must be received by Wednesday, November 6, 2002.

Call Tom Schmied to request your ballot (303) 798-7014. Leave your name and address on the answering machine. Return ballots to: Tom Schmied, 6623 S. Sycamore Street, Littleton, CO 80120-3038.

Kudos to Players with High Standards of Ethics

By Gerry Oehm

Here are some examples of situations where people displayed high standards of ethics knowing that by doing so they would hurt their score.

Hesitation Blackwood

Fred Herring, one of Denver's finest players, recently picked up:

♠ 7
♥ KQ963
♦ KJ9
♣ AQ87

He opened the bidding with 1♥ and his partner (an improving but relatively inexperienced player) responded 1♠. He rebid 2♣ and his partner asked for aces with a complicated form of Blackwood. He responded and then his partner hesitated before bidding 5♥. Realizing that there was probably a mix-up and that he could most likely make 6♥ (after all, he did have a great hand with lots of extra values) – he passed. Yes, the hand was cold for 6♥ without finesse.

Hesitation Redouble

A number of years ago Flo Newlin was playing in a regional event with an expert partner. Flo opened 1NT which the next hand doubled for penalties. Now there are at least two ways to interpret a redouble by responder. The standard method is that a redouble says "gotcha." It is also possible to play that redouble asks the NT bidder to run to a suit. The second method requires partnership agreement and perhaps some advance discussion. Well her partner did redouble but only after thinking about it for maybe 20-30 seconds. Now the hesitation told Flo that her partner did not have values and wanted her to run, although this was not clearly their agreement. So of course Flo passed just as if the redouble had been made in tempo. I wish I could report that justice was served and she made the contract but I believe it was down one.

Hesitation Non-Blackwood

In the last round of a sectional Swiss event when she was playing for an overall award, Susan Reynolds picked up a great balanced hand including a very good 5-card club suit. She opened 2NT and her partner (a nice player but perhaps tired by this time) bid 3♣ which was alerted and explained as Puppet Stayman, asking for a 5-card major. Susan bid 4♣. Her partner thought for awhile and bid a slow 4NT (wanting to play it there). Susan responded Aces and her partner thought for some time and bid 5NT (clearly wanting to play it here since 4NT and 3NT were no longer available). Susan answered Kings. She ended up playing 6NT which had no play.

Hesitation Pass

In a recent club game an intermediate player who is improving faced the following situation. The bidding had gone 1NT, pass by her partner, 3NT by her right hand opponent. She held a fair hand with a good spade suit and thought awhile before passing. When it was explained to her that she could think as long as she liked (well, probably not 5 minutes), but by doing so she put a lot of pressure on her partner. Why? The hesitation in 4th seat is usually based on a good major (the opponents did not bid Stayman). It behooves her partner to defend as if there were no hesitation – difficult to do – and to not lead a doubleton 9 of spades, say, against the 3NT contract when she might have picked that lead had there been no hesitation. She is now prepared to think before a hesitation becomes necessary.

Conclusion

We all need to try to not hesitate in situations where doing so indicates a course of action to our partners. In addition, if your partner accidentally does hesitate, be careful how you bid and play after the hesitation.

BRIDGE WEEK IN NORTH AMERICA

The second week in January of 2003 has been declared "Bridge Week in North America - 2003" by the American Contract Bridge League. With over 160,000 members, ACBL selected this week because it is the 71st anniversary of the "Bridge Battle of the Century."

The Bridge Battle of the Century, as it was called when it took place between December 1931 and January 1932, was a genuine milestone in the history of the development and promotion of bridge as it is known today. Combining as it did every feature designed to capture and hold the interest of the then bridge-mad multitudes, and starring the greatest celebrities then prominent in bridge, it was predestined to be an exciting and long-remembered event. These were the years when bridge was making its impact felt keenly in the United States for the first time.

Well it may be a new millennium now but bridge is still a fantastic game and with the advent of the internet and online bridge clubs, it is more accessible than ever.

To celebrate our game, bridge clubs throughout the world and cyberspace are invited to participate in "Bridge Week 2003." Bridge clubs are going to be where "the action is" for Bridge Week. Highlighting this event will be the Continent-wide Member/Non-member Contest. At all duplicate games during the week, any pair that contains at least one new member (paid after January 1, 2003) will count toward determining prize winners in the recruiting contest — details to be announced soon.

Other features of the week-long event will be a "pro-am competition" where games made up only of pairs of over/under 300 points (the entire field must be that way) will be a featured competition. Also, hand records with hands from the famous match will be available to any ACBL club desiring them. And special prizes to clubs conducting a "bridge marathon" based on the number of hands actually played at the club during the week with the aim being to get local news media coverage wherever possible.

Mark the dates on your calendars. Expect more information on the internet at www.acbl.org and in a mailing in the fall. If you have ideas for Bridge Week in North America, email bridgeweek@acbl.org.

There will be bridge marathons, member/guest & pro-am games and a re-creation of the Culbertson/Lenz match as well as "party time" at the clubs. Prizes will be awarded in various categories. The goal of the week-long celebration is to spread the word that bridge is the best leisure time activity in the world.

To receive the special Bridge Week packet of promotional materials and prizes, a club must register to participate in one or more of the Bridge Week activities with the ACBL Club Membership Department no later than November 1, 2002. Easiest way to sign up is through the ACBL website. Note that the special pro/am and member/nonmember games will have upgraded masterpoint awards.

The bidding:

1♣	P	1♥	P
1NT	P	3NT	P
P	P

This hand appeared recently in a column by Steve Becker. The deal occurred in a team-of-four match where making the contract is paramount, and illustrates not only a clever play by declarer which had much to gain and little to lose, but also shows a strategic difference between IMPs and matchpoints.

At the first table South got to 3NT and West led a diamond, declarer winning East's jack with the queen. South had seven quick winners and needed tricks from the heart suit, so at trick two he let the ten of hearts ride.

Had West held the queen, South would have made the contract with an overtrick. But East won the ten with the queen and returned his remaining diamond. West's diamonds were established, and declarer ultimately went down one.

The bidding and play at the other table were exactly the same, but that declarer made the contract. He won the diamond lead with the queen, led a spade to dummy's queen, and returned a low heart toward his hand. East followed low, as most players would, and South played the ten. West ducked, hoping to preserve his entry to his diamonds, but it was of little use.

Declarer led another heart and West ducked again. But South, having already located the queen of hearts, went up with the king. Another heart lead forced out the ace, and declarer made ten tricks.

Despite the unusual nature of the second declarer's play, it had an extremely sound foundation. South did not mind losing a trick to West if he had the queen, since the diamonds would be safe from attack. Declarer's only real concern was that East might have the heart queen.

In effect, South assumed that East did have that card and there was an excellent chance he might not play it if the first heart lead came from dummy. And if West had it, declarer has lost only an overtrick, but his contract is safe.

DIRECTORY 2003

YOUR LISTING

The Denver Unit is planning to publish a new membership directory for 2003. The booklet will be available at our Spring Sectional, March 6-9, 2003.

We get our membership information directly from the ACBL but perform updates at the local level so that we publish the most current information available. Generally, if your information is recorded properly with the ACBL in Memphis, it will appear correctly in our Unit Directory.

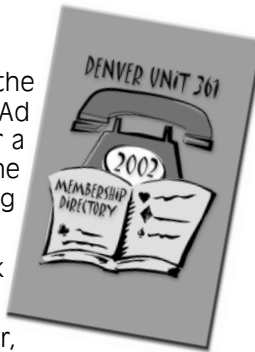

If your listing in this year's directory is incorrect, or you change your address or phone number in the next few months, please contact Gerry Schechter, (303) 850-0223 by February 1, 2003 with your new information.

ADVERTISING

Additionally, the Unit sells advertising in the Directory to help offset the cost of printing. Ad rates are reasonable, ranging from $450 for a full page to $50 for a business card ad. The deadline for purchasing an ad and providing camera-ready copy is February 10, 2003.

Ad space is sold on a first-come basis, so talk with any Board Member to reserve your spot.

The Directory is printed every year, however, people will hold them for years. With approximately 1100 directories printed annually, your advertising dollar goes a long way.

We want to be in touch and the preferred communication method these days is email.

If you would like to receive the occasional email from the Unit about upcoming events, tournament results, or other items of interest, let us know.

Go to www.denverbridge.com and click on the Sign Up link.

Provide the information requested and submit.

You will now receive email sent by the Denver Unit.

REST ASSURED... any information you provide is kept confidential and never sold to third parties.
